

2007... Happy Last Year!

One more year that comes to an end... This was a year that, thanks to God, and our prayers and support, I could fulfill many dreams, and complete many projects... I came to Asia, in the opposite side of the world, learned a new language (even lead worship already), visited 4 other countries, made many friends from several nations and, by the grace of God, could be a channel of blessings to many people, in a country that so desperately needs God. It was a year of challenges that were put to past... A year of battles, through which we came out victoriously... A year of much growth, much learning, many blessings, many histories to tell. So I decided, in this last Prayer Letter of 2007 to send some photos... only a little "souvenir" of each moment I spent here in Timor. God bless you!
